I am tracking this down. I am pretty sure it's fake news.

I will add, thankfully, someone did mention that even the boys XC are not permitted to run the track because they are distracting also per the football team, so hopefully that is what it was meant.

This is a very touchy topic especially since most middle schools and HS have created dress codes that are against the females and have said that it is because they are too distracting to the boys in the classes. So when a college makes a decision like this, it relights that anger that has already been there from a few years ago.

Barb, I included you because I am not sure if you handle all athletics or if it was just the Unified Sports event.
